See Them Made
Reception Wafers

You know they are absolutely sanitary, for you have just watched the wonderful machinery that turns these RECEPTION WAFERS out in five different flavors without once being touched by the hand.

There is a special demonstration booth on the Street Floor at which you should certainly stop and watch the operation of this machine, which is a big step in the science of cleanly foods.

The sugar, poured from the bag into a big vessel, is dissolved by a steam process, is then heated, flavored and in turn shaped into these delicious wafers, and comes out on a belt, slips into receptacles, and the finished candy is lifted by tongs into snowy paper boxes, and the assortment consists of peppermint, watermelon, chocolate, maple and orange.
